Robertson

"They're at it again. ... I think they ought to throw Frohnmayer out. He's a disgrace. He ought to resign. President Bush ought to demand his resignation.

"They're going to give a large grant, 20, 25 thousand dollars ... to fund a pro-lesbian play that deals, as John [Black, CBN correspondent] says with two twelve year-old girls. Now, it is not anti-lesbian; it is pro.

"This other movie had anal intercourse, had all kinds of violence, had torture, had just vile themes that John says it just isn't very artistically good.

"But Frohnmayer says we can't make any artistic judgments. Well, it's an easy thing to do, to say, 'We're not going to give you any money.' You don't have to make an artistic judgment, just say, 'We're not going to give you any money'!

"... Unfortunately, there's a strong homosexual community that deals in the art realm. There are many, many homosexuals who are very active in the arts community. They are very vocal in getting grants from the federal government.

"I think they ought to get it from the private sector. If the private sector wants to fund this, that's their business. If it is obscene, it ought to go to the courts. If it's not obscene, let them show it.

"But there's an entirely different area when you're talking about censorship, that's one thing. The other is the propriety of taking my money -- that's what he's doing -- he's taking your money and my money -- April 15th is coming up, and it's taking your money, ladies and gentlemen, and it's going to promote homosexuality. Thomas Jefferson said to compel a man to give contributions of money to a concept or to a belief that is repugnant to him is tyrannical. And this is a form of tyranny. It is sinful and tyrannical. They're the words of Thomas Jefferson, and I believe this. This is sinful and tyrannical for John Frohnmayer and the NEA to do this. Even once, it's wrong.

"It's got to be stopped, but nobody wants to come up to the plate because the President's been for this thing; most of the Congress has been for it, and the very wealthy elites who put the money into the political parties have been supporting, quote, art, because it's funded very generously by the more wealthy in our society."

Terry Meeuwsen (co-host)

"What will stop it?..."

Robertson

"What's going to stop it is if the people enforce the Congress. The Congress needs to put some restrictions on this thing. They can do it. After all, it's money! You don't have to give money away! There's nothing that says the United States has to give money to homosexuals to advance their cause! Nothing that says we have to do that! And so if Congress does it, and it is doing it on its own volition, then the voters have a perfect right to vote against them or to bring that to their attention. And if enough people make enough issue of it, the Congress will say, 'Well, we better do something.'"

Meeuwsen

"Surely with the social concerns in our country we could find something else to do with $50,000."

Robertson

"I think we ought to feed some poor in the inner city and teach some kids how to read and write instead of teaching them how to be homosexuals."

Special report: Projecting US Power

Robertson

"The next ten years are going to determine where America is. We'll either hit the year 2000 looking like Argentina, or we'll come up strong like we used to be. We've got to go back to the way we used to be as a nation."

Terry Meeuwsen (co-host)

"In your opinion, is that going to happen?"

Robertson

"Only if the Christians in America will mobilize together, begin to pray and to be active in the political process and let their voices be heard. The concerned pro-family Roman Catholics united together with the evangelicals could elect anybody to any office at any level of our government any time they want to. They can stop abortion today if they really meant business. They can. They can elect judges in some states and change the rulings of the various courts. They can change the school systems. They can do all that, if they'll get involved. But if they sit back and are apathetic and they do not be informed [sic] on the issues ... we can change this country. And if we don't, there is no other moral force in America that's going to make a difference."

A discussion on the economy, a testimony, and a preview of the NCAA championship game followed.

Special report: Planned Parenthood

This extensive story demonstrated how Planned Parenthood is undermining parental authority by encouraging teenagers to have sex.

Highlights from Robertson's tirade:

Robertson

"[Margaret Sanger's] main thrust was toward what's called eugenics. ... She said we must take away from the gene pool the defective ones."

Sheila Walsh (co-host)

"That's like Adolf Hitler."

Robertson

"Hitler copied her. One of the key members of the Planned Parenthood organization was a doctor whose writings were copied by Hitler.

"But you ask yourself, who are the defectives?"

Walsh

"Who would they be?"

Robertson

"You and me for starters, because we're fundamentalist Christians -- we have to be crazy."

...

Robertson

"[Sanger] got $50 million, I think, from the Rockefeller interests. She got $50 million from the Ford Foundation --"

Walsh

"Rockefeller?"

Robertson

"Yes! Rockefeller's big on birth control because they're afraid of all these hungry mouths to feed."

...

Robertson

"[At its inception, Planned Parenthood] wanted to start birth control, then abortion, and then when they had so many babies they couldn't control it, [Sanger] wanted to start sterilization. So you go into the inner cities of America, you will find Planned Parenthood pushing sterilization. Now it's out in the malls to get the kids to have sex so we'll get so revolted by all of the babies that are being produced by this that we'll start sterilizing people."

...

Robertson

"What Planned Parenthood is doing is absolutely contrary to everything Christian. It is teaching kids to fornicate, teaching people to have adultery, teaching people to get involved in every kind of bestiality, homosexuality, lesbianism -- everything that the Bible condemns. And teaching us to be absolutely without any moral restraint."

Robertson then encouraged viewers to write to the House Energy and Commerce Committee and demand that no federal money be given to Planned Parenthood.

Testimonies and interviews rounded out the show.

News:

- Negotiations in the Middle East
- Rail strike
- Debate on fetal tissue research

Sheila Walsh (co-host)

"What, in your opinion, Pat, are the most alarming aspects of this?"

Robertson

"This is exactly what Adolf Hitler did. They took tissue from human beings and used it for all kinds of things. They did experiments on living human beings, none of which had any medical value we can discern. But on top of that, they made lampshades from the skin of people, and it just began to be inhumane. Now we're talking about women being like breeding animals to breed unborn babies, which in turn will be slaughtered for their parts and tissues. I mean, the thing is monstrous in its implications. ... Imagine: you pay a woman -- an unborn baby's worth a thousand dollars -- all right, honey, you get pregnant, you carry that baby for three months, then we'll harvest it. It's monstrous!"

Special report: Demon Possession and Exorcism

Robertson detailed his own experience with a demon-possessed girl, then had this conversation:

Walsh

"When something like the '20/20' interview [on exorcism] goes out, a lot of people are very afraid because they wonder if it's going to happen to them. Demonic possession -- does that come [from] a direct invitation? Does somebody actually have to give themselves over to the enemy to be possessed?"

Robertson

"I heard of one girl who was demon-possessed, and the people were casting it out, and the demon said, 'But I've had permission.' And the permission was, she went to an R- or X-rated movie some place, and that's what did it. That was permission. She had opened herself up to this sexual activity, and that was it. And the demon said, 'I had permission.'"

Walsh

"But if that's so, then there must be -- I can think of a bunch of Christians who've gone to see R-rated movies."

Robertson

"And there are a bunch of Christians who are opening themselves up to demon possession every time they get involved in something like that."

Walsh

"Demon possession?"

Robertson

"Well, certainly oppression, demon influence. Every time. And they don't know what will come into their heads or what will happen. This is very real. There are spirits of lust, spirits of alcoholism, there are spirits of fear. There are all kinds of demonic activities."

Testimonies and interviews followed.

News:

- Conditions in the Soviet Union
- Earthquake in Costa Rica
- "Race norming" in standardized tests
- Public schools vs. Christian schools

Robertson

"Horace Mann was a Unitarian, and he set out in his goal to establish non-Christian schools. He wanted Unitarian -- he wanted the schools outside the Christian church. And so, the public education movement has also been an anti-Christian movement. People don't understand that. They think public schools are like Mom and apple pie. They aren't necessarily. They're places where people get indoctrinated in a particular lifestyle. ...

"We've got to change the system, change the type of educators, change the curriculum, change the mindset of those people and get control of the school system away from the National Education Association and put it back in the hands of the parents. We can change education in America if you put Christian principles in and Christian pedagogy in. In three years, you would totally revolutionize the education of America."

Testimonies and interviews finished the program.

Special report: Historic and Biblical Foundation of America

Robertson

"From being the destiny to carry the gospel to the world, we've come to a point where Christians are a hunted, persecuted minority in the nation we founded! Our forefathers -- Christian -- founded this nation as a Christian nation. ... This is a nation founded to honor Jesus!"

Sheila Walsh (co-host)

"When you look at where we're at right now in this country, can the tide be turned, Pat?"

Robertson

"It can, Sheila, but we've got ten years. If we do not have a moral and spiritual revival during the 1990s, America is lost as a great power. Now, we won't necessarily just blow apart and go away, but I think we will be in such an irreversible decline that future generations will not know the nation we've known. ... Christians are Americans, too. This nation must return to its heritage. We must re-capture the faith we had as a nation and come back to faith in God."

The rest of the show consisted of testimonies.

Old Time Gospel Hour 4-21-91

Before his sermon, Falwell introduced Beverly LaHaye, who spoke briefly about Concerned Women for America:

Falwell

"Tim and Beverly LaHaye, in my opinion, will be remembered in history as a couple, a family, that impacted America in a time of great need. As authors, both of them, Tim a pastor, educators, lecturers, and crusaders for decency and morality, God has used Tim and Beverly to affect literally millions of lives. It may be that the most significant contribution of this family has been the work God has led Beverly to do. Twelve years ago, she founded Concerned Women for America. Today 700,000 women are involved. They're committed to Biblical morality and decency, family, traditional values. They oppose abortion. They're in favor of the monogamous family. They oppose pornography. Just the opposite of their counterpart in society today, the National Organization of Women. Just the opposite. Many times larger in number, though you never read that in the media, because in fact, CWA represents grassroots American women. NOW represents radicals who repudiate everything that America stands for, and yet the media gives them a lot of ink." [Introduced Bev].

Beverly LaHaye

"Thank you, Dr. Falwell. I'm delighted to be here in this wonderful service today. I would like to say that Concerned Women for America joins President Bush in the Days of Thanksgiving that we're celebrating right now. I only wish that we could be celebrating days of thanksgiving for the war that's going on inside the United States: the war against the unborn babies, the war against decency.

"All the time the war was going on in the Gulf, there were still thousands of babies being murdered -- unborn babies. While the war was going on in the Gulf and our attention was focused there almost totally, the National Endowment for the Arts was spending our tax dollars for obscenity and pornography. And while the war was going on in the Gulf, we still saw the statistics that thousands of teenagers were committing suicide. Drugs and all the ills. There is a war going on inside the United States.

"Concerned Women for America has really tried to become, if you please, a watchdog in Washington, DC, because sometimes they need watching. Some of the legislation being passed, some of the decisions being made in courts across our land, our religious freedoms are really in jeopardy. Some of the decisions that the courts are making today are beginning to deny us the freedom of speech regarding religion. So we're supporting a bill called the Religious Freedom Restoration Act. Who would ever believe that one day we'd have to restore religious freedom to this great land that was founded on religious freedom?

"All these things Concerned Women for America is proud to be involved in to alert the American public. Dr. Falwell, I'd like to say that of that 700,000, we now have almost 80,000 men who decided that they want to be part of Concerned Women for America also, because they believed in what we stood for. And I say to you, who will save the families of America? Who will save morality and decency for our future generations? It will have to be you and me."
