

Televangelist Summaries
January 1992

ACLU.....2
Cardinal O'Connor.....2
Homosexuals.....1,2
National Endowment for the Arts.....1

700 Club
1-3-92

-NEA

Sheila Walsh:

"Here in our own country the National Endowment for the Arts may soon see a change in leadership..."

Dale Hurd at the CBN news desk:

"President Bush has assured a number of Congressmen that the controversial chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts, John Frohnmayr, will resign his NEA leadership within the next month. That, according to this month's issue of the New York Guardian, which reports that President Bush fears that Frohnmayr could become an election year liability. The Guardian also reported that through the NEA, ten thousand dollars in federal tax money supported the production of a TV ad supporting abortion rights. Thirty thousand more went toward "Wig Stock," an annual convention of homosexual drag queens in New York City held this past September."

-Status of American children declining

-Extensive report on Yugoslavia

Testimonies

700 Club
1-6-92

This week the 700 Club focused on the theme of "Reclaiming America's Heritage," primarily bemoaning the decline of Christian values and ideas, the loss of prayer in schools, the legalization of abortion. Not much of substance was said.

NEWS:

-Bush trip

Robertson on the Japanese:

"They don't have any national soul like we do."

-Decline of U.S. founding fathers' Christian heritage.

-Brief recap of the history of CBN and Pat Robertson. Includes funny clips of Pat in 1970's clothes.

700 Club

1-30-92

-Report on Nuclear Arms Cuts

-Story on scientific advances and new molecules called "Bucky Balls"

News Desk:

-New president of Zambia declares his country a Christian Nation

-In East Germany, religions, cults and sects are struggling to fill a spiritual void of "lost Socialist Souls."

-Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights in Boston filed a legal complaint under a "Hate Crimes" statute in Massachusetts after gay and lesbian activists interrupted a talk by Cardinal O'Connor of New York.

Robertson:

"You know, Cardinal O'Connor is an absolutely wonderful man. And there has been literature funded by the United States Government through the National Endowment of [sic] the Arts which called him a fat cannibal, closed quote. That is the kind of thing we thought was not too good, but of course the civil libertarians have said of course our tax money should go to assault a Catholic Cardinal, a fundamentalist minister and so forth. I don't think that is the way we ought to handle it, nor do I think these people ought to be able to parade their deviant behavior and attack respected people like Cardinal O'Connor."

-Testimony by a man whose brain was attacked by a deadly virus.

-Testimony of Bobby Jones, activist homosexual activist from the 1970's turned right-wing born-again Christian.