

The 700 Club

9-3-96

Newswatch:

- 1) Saddam Hussein orders a “shoot to kill” status for any foreign coalition planes caught in Iraqi airspace. Pat Robertson talks with Bill Taylor of the Center for Strategic and International Studies.
- 2) The southeast U.S. coast braces for Hurricane Fran, expected later this week.
(newsdesk)
- 3) Convicted Whitewater felon Susan McDougal is tempted to cooperate with Special Prosecutor Ken Starr.
- 4) A new poll shows a majority of the public want much tougher laws for drunk drivers.
- 5) Another family is dead after rolling down the same ramp Susan Smith used to roll her children to their death several years ago. This was an accident.
- 6) A peace agreement between Muslim rebels in the Philippines and the majority government.
- 7) A church in northeast Arkansas will rebuild for the second time, after their church burned for the second time only three weeks from completion.
(enddesk)
- 8) The Federal Reserve may raise interest rates again in the next couple of weeks. It would be the first raise ever during a Presidential election run.
- 9) A CBN report on how to deal with cranky bosses.

Features:

- 1) A report from the Meeuwsen household as Terry sends her kids back to school for their first day.
- 2) A party girl whose marriage was falling apart tells of her journey to the light of the Lord.
- 3) Pat Robertson is joined by Jerry Falwell about his new biography due out in about six weeks.

Falwell: “The only hope for the inner city is vouchers. So that all the churches can go in and plant Christian schools in the inner cities, and capture these fatherless young people for Christ and teach them Biblical discipline...Its either God or its ruin for our country, I do believe.”

- 4) The final half hour is a rerun of Robertson’s Answers series.

The 700 Club

9-4-96

Newswatch:

- 1) The southeast coast braces as Hurricane Fran bears down and picks up speed.

- 2) U.S. forces launch more missiles at Iraqi targets to shore up the job started with yesterday's strike. The U.S. can now enforce a larger no-fly zone over Iraq. Senator John Warner (R-Virginia) joins Pat Robertson to discuss the current Iraqi crisis.
- 3) A CBN report on the developing political environment in Russia. With Yeltsin's health in question, and the possibility of hard-liner control still looming, citizens are fearful that newfound religious freedom could be squelched.

Features:

- 1) A young police officer barely escapes death, and as a result, is led to a faith in God.
- 2) Special musical guests Common Bond perform an original song.
- 3) Pat Robertson talks with author and missionary David Cape. Cape is a South African minister who has traveled and ministered among some of the most depressed black areas.
- 4) The final half hour is an extended infomercial about CBN's upcoming ministry events. The events are plugged by CBN Ministry director Norman Mintle and host Terry Meeuwsen.

The 700 Club
9-5-96

Newswatch:

- 1) Hurricane Fran has picked up strength and is heading straight for the South Carolina coast.
- 2) President Clinton has said that the two missile attacks on Iraqi targets have been successful.
- 3) Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu and Yassar Arafat have their first meeting as Netanyahu promises to negotiate for further peace settlements without betraying his campaign promises. Conny Mus joins Pat Robertson live by telephone.
- 4) A CBN feature news report looking at the successes and failures of the 104th Congress. Pat Robertson is joined by Gary Bauer live from Washington.

Bauer on DOMA: "Isn't this amazing Pat, we hear all these politicians using pro-family rhetoric. I mean, it just poured out of the television last week. Here's a really easy issue, is marriage between a man and a woman, or is it between two men and two women? The bill would pass in the Congress by an overwhelming vote, but Ted Kennedy, a couple of other liberals in the Senate have been trying to weigh it down with extraneous amendments and parliamentary maneuvers. Anything to avoid a clear up or down vote that the American people can take a look at before election day."

Robertson on Clinton not releasing his full medical records: "I think that at this point in time, the American people have the absolute right to know the health of their President. Again, if he's engaged in some type of habit or something is going on that is really illegal, unlawful, or a dark side, it's got to be brought out. If it isn't, what's he got to hide."

Features:

- 1) A woman struggles through anorexia and bulimia and comes back to health with the help of a faith in Christ.
- 2) A feature on how religious faith led NFL star Chris Carter back from drugs and alcohol.
- 3) The final half hour is a rerun of a 700 Club Features segment.

The 700 Club
9-6-96

Newswatch:

- 1) The recovery begins as Hurricane Fran blows north.
- 2) A CBN report on the threat posed by the rise of radical Islam in Turkey. Right now, Turkey is a NATO ally of the U.S., but things could easily change.
- 3) New research shows the groundbreaking bone marrow transplant now being done with the blood from an umbilical cord.
(newsdesk)
- 4) Earthquakes rock the ring of fire in an unusually active couple of days.
- 5) Congress passes a law making it tougher for the President to put U.S. troops under U.N. command, and allowing U.S. soldiers to refuse to serve in a U.N. coalition force.
- 6) A government commission has determined that up to 1100 Gulf War soldiers were exposed to deadly nerve gas.
- 7) The Catholic voters, so key to the 1994 Republican victory, have shown that they are leaning more towards Clinton in this election despite his position on abortion.
- 8) Mother Teresa goes home from the hospital.
- 9) The Oklahoma police officer demoted for his angry slap of a boy caught having sex with his daughter has been restored to his original rank and duty.
(enddesk)

Features:

- 1) The Salem High School band surprises Pat Robertson on the set as he is set to go back to his alma mater for a football game this weekend.
- 2) A testimonial segment on a young football coach who was successful on the field, but had failed to recognize the responsibility of the Biblical mandate to him to act as the spiritual head of his family. The Promise Keepers programs led him in the right direction.
- 3) Special musical guests: The Winans.
- 4) Ben Kinchlow visits with Terry Meeuwsen and Pat Robertson to discuss his new plans for mission. Kinchlow will be leaving his role as host of The 700 Club.
- 5) Terry Meeuwsen talks with Carolyn Sundseth, executive director of Presidential Prayer '96.

The 700 Club
9-9-96

Newswatch:

- 1) Hurricane Fran rips through the eastern seaboard states leaving North Carolina the most devastated state.
- 2) President Clinton meets today with Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu to discuss Middle East peace.
- 3) The U.S. Senate will take up the controversial Defense of Marriage Act this week as a court in Hawaii will hear the case which spawned this federal action this week as well.
- 4) Communities all over Belgium mourn the burial of more victims of a vicious child sex ring.
- 5) A report on how some environmentalist claims about controlling pesticide and nuclear power use are based on bad science. CBN urges people to downplay this environmental extremism.
(newsdesk)
- 6) Gas prices may be rising again thanks to recent tensions in the Persian Gulf.
- 7) NBC leads the way at the Emmy awards with 20 awards.
(enddesk)

Features:

- 1) A CBN special, Let the Rocks Cry Out, from the Holy Land.
- 2) A Christian woman in southern Lebanon tells of the morning that a rocket tore through her apartment window, miraculously leaving her untouched.
- 3) Pat Robertson talks with Salim Munayer, founder of Musalah, and Ilan Zamier, President of King of Kings College about joint ministries between Israeli and Palestinian Christians.
- 4) Terry Meeuwsen's Woman to Woman features author and evangelist Kay Arthur.

The 700 Club
9-10-96

Newswatch:

- 1) The Senate will vote on the Defense of Marriage Act today.

Robertson: "Could you imagine that three people would be sitting on a set of a national news program talking about legalizing same-sex marriages. Twenty-five years ago this would have been unthinkable in America. Ten years ago it would have been unthinkable. Because, you know, sodomy has been repugnant ever since the days of the Bible, and suddenly we are changing our culture. There is a struggle for the traditional marriage, but whenever these barriers, if we will, to certain abhorrent conduct are broken down, then we move the goal posts, it continually moves, and we have no standards."

- 2) Hurricane Hortense bashes Puerto Rico with high winds and rain.
- 3) North Carolina estimates Hurricane Fran's disaster is the worst ever in that state.
(newsdesk)
- 4) Susan McDougal goes to jail for contempt of court.
- 5) Dick Morris denies the claims of a call girl that he blamed Hillary Clinton for Filegate.

- 6) Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu promises he still seeks a growing peace, but will not necessarily abide by previous administration's promises.
- 7) New York Mayor Rudolph Guliani suggests shifting some students subject to overcrowding to Catholic schools willing to take them.
- 8) A British man is diagnosed with a rare form of cancer caused by chemicals in photocopier toning fluid.
- 9) Bill Monroe, the father of Bluegrass Music passes away.
- 10) Oprah Winfrey tops the Forbes magazine list of highest paid entertainers.
(enddesk)
- 11) An in-depth look at the Hawaii Circuit Court case that could legalize same-sex marriages in that state. While there is a good chance that the court will favor these marriages, it will almost definitely be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Features:

- 1) The second day of a special, Let the Rocks Cry Out. A CBN tour of the Galilee country and northern Lebanon.
- 2) A young woman is healed through the prayers and testimony of The 700 Club as broadcast by Middle East TV.
- 3) Pat Robertson visits the Middle East Television studio.
- 4) A music video presentation from singer Kathy Troccoli as part of the Jerusalem 3000 project.
- 5) A rerun story about a young Romanian man who faced persecution for being a Christian in a Communist country.
- 6) Jay Sekulow talks with Jim Wood. Wood founded a home for at-risk teens and crisis children.

The 700 Club
9-11-96

Newswatch:

- 1) The Senate defeats the Employment Non-Discrimination Act and passes the Defense of Marriage Act. Both votes are crushing defeats to the gay rights movement.

Robertson: "Cultural wars, what is it? Well, we congratulate the Senate on that one vote, but its alarming that one vote away from forcing churches to hire homosexuals against their will. That is alarming activity in the United States Senate."

- 2) Senator Robert Byrd (D-W.V.) defied tradition during debate yesterday and brought his Bible to the floor of the Senate to speak in favor of the Defense of the Marriage Act.
- 3) Hurricane Hortense seems to be ready to veer away from the Florida coast.
- 4) Iraq has repaired some of its radar defenses damaged last week in air strikes. The U.S. may launch additional strikes to take these sights out again.
- 5) Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas speaks on personal responsibility at Regent University. Thomas says America values its victims more than its heroes now.

6) The ACLU goes to court today to try and force an Alabama judge to remove the Ten Commandments from his courtroom wall. Judge Moore promises to fight all the way to the Supreme Court if he must.

Robertson: "The ACLU is the enemy of God, the enemy of religion, they have done everything they can to strip religious values from our society, and they indeed are political correctness run amok."

(newsdesk)

7) An earthquake rocks Tokyo, Japan.

8) Ross Perot names economist Pat Choate as his running mate.

9) Former Clinton adviser Dick Morris admits to keeping his wealthy book deal a secret from campaign officials.

10) The General Accounting Office says that the infamous White House database does not have proper the security controls to ensure that it is not abused.

(enddesk)

Features:

1) The third day of CBN's tour of the Holy Land, Let the Rocks Cry Out. Today: Jerusalem.

2) A historical piece looking at the establishment of the new Israeli state.

3) An examination of the significance of the Jewish passover and its relation to Christian communion.

4) Terry Meeuwsen talks with the two founders of the Maoz Center about their spiritual works.

5) The final half hour is a rerun of a segment detailing upcoming programs in the CBN Ministry tent.